If Grandma had to pick a favorite holiday, then she would have to say that in her family it is Halloween that the girls enjoy the most - the costumes, the Trick-or-Treating, the parties! The same must clearly be said of Terrance Zepke, who has included hundreds of ideas, recipes and tips for party planning, decorations, crafts, games in Happy Halloween!: Hundreds of Perfect Party Recipes, Delightful Decorating Ideas & Awesome Activities. There is a real art to planning a party, something that Terrance clearly knows her way around. She not only includes a game plan, she includes links for free printable invitations and a calculator to help you determine just how many drinks you need to allow for. The book is divided into several sections, which you can access from the interactive menu in the front of the book. Section I. Party Planning Section II - Party Recipes, further divided into Desserts, Light Appetizers, Heavy Appetizers and Drinks Section III - Decorating Ideas Section IV - Fun Activities for both children and Teens/Adults Section V - Halloween History & Trivia All of the included recipes are easy to do. About half rely on basics like refrigerated cookie dough & cake mixes. You'll find goodies like Swamp Cake, Candy Corn Pizza, Pumpkin Whoopie Pies and a Pumpkin Fudge that is super-yummy! (You can use the leftover pumpkin from the Pumpkin Fudge to make Pumpkin Pillows - little caramel & pumpkin stuffed fried turnovers made from wonton wrappers.) Monster Meatballs has been one of Grandma's favorite party dishes for several decades. Terrance calls for frozen meatballs (she doesn't say how big a package) but do feel free to make your own according to your favorite recipe. Sixteen ounce jars of jelly and chili/barbecue sauce are enough for about 5 pounds of meatballs. Chock full of decorating ideas, you'll even find links to plans to make your own coffin to use as a buffet table along with imaginative ideas for the exterior of your home and instructions for producing a Boiling Cauldron to set the atmosphere. No party is complete without fun & games to keep party-goers entertained. You'll find ideas ranging from Make Your Own Luminarias to Monster Musical Chairs along with several Zombie Games for the youngest party goers. I do have one quibble with the game Monster Station. Terrance calls for raw chicken thigh or wing bones as "fingers" for the game. Raw chicken can carry salmonella and should not be handled by children. Better you should salvage the bones from chicken that you've cooked and scrub them to remove any traces of meat. Happy Halloween!: Hundreds of Perfect Party Recipes, Delightful Decorating Ideas & Awesome Activities is a super idea book that you'll enjoy using year after year. Halloween enthusiasts will find lots to love!

The ideas and recipes are wonderful but unfortunately all of the pictures (in the print edition of the book) are black and white. Full color photos would have made all the difference in the world and it was disappointing to open the book and find only black and white newsprint.

Good ideas and recipes. I've seen some of the decorating ideas on the web already but nice to see a book that contains a little bit of everything for a party and with pictures (a must).

I love this Halloween Party idea book- the recipes were easy and so fun- the game ideas were just what I was looking for!

We are throwing our first Halloween party. Really like this book! Very helpful. Great ideas too! I plan on using a lot of them.

The book is relatively short and doesn't take long to read. I found it very interesting and extremely helpful. Very interesting facts and some great recipes.

I really enjoyed this book..lots and lots of great ideas. Delicious looking recipes. Cannot wait to try some of these. 5 stars!!!!

Sorry, it was a long book with a lot of projects but nothing really new. I ended up deleting it.
